Three Greene County teachers complete Rising Stars program

GREENSBORO – Congratulations to Rising Stars graduates who recently received their performance-based leadership certification. Rising Stars is a collaborative leadership initiative among Northeast Georgia Regional Education Service Agency (RESA), North Georgia College and State University, and participating school districts.

Educators accepted into Rising Stars are nominated based on their demonstrated leadership potential and are chosen using their district's selection process. Candidates participate in a year-long intensive performance-based leadership development program providing instruction on real-world leadership skills and the opportunity to practice critical leadership tasks on the job, with coaching, feedback and support. Graduating from Greene County are Mindy Blankenship, Greene County High School, Charlotte Dorsey, GCSS Fine Arts Coordinator, and Ciji Merritt, Greensboro Elementary School.
